WORKFORCE TOOLS

Connecting job seekers and learners with service providers, educators, employers, and job opportunities, in real-time

BECAUSE workforce skills lead to great jobs

McGraw-Hill Workforce Connects online integrated system allows educators, Workforce Investment Boards, CareerOneStop centers, and employers to connect with job seekers and learners in real-time to achieve their career goals and address workforce development needs. Workforce Connects powerful workforce tools include:

NETWORK

A comprehensive, customized online community that allows Workforce Investment Boards, CareerOneStops, educators, and employers to help jobseekers and learners achieve their career goals and address workforce development needs. It is a fully integrated system that facilitates communication among jobseekers, learners, educators, and regional employers, building connections that help improve the occupational outcomes of the regional workforce.

NOTE: Network is a fully customized solution that requires significant consultation, ongoing dedicated staffing resources and up-front capital investment to create a fully integrated online community of workforce and economic development stakeholders.
